

30th of June, discussion with stakeholder during discussion festival LAMPA.

Vidzeme planning region brought discussion about importance of smart specialization into the society. Knowledge and good practice transfer can increase competitiveness of the regions and specialization can be one of the ways how to do that.

How increasing competitiveness can help scientists and public sector? How cooperation can increase competitiveness and increase number of innovative and unique products and services? These were the main topics under discussion with experts and stakeholders.