TANIA: Un projet de coopération européen pour dépolluer les sols

La Région Grand Est, héritière de son passé industriel, dispose d'un potentiel foncier important mais présentant des possibilités de réutilisation parfois complexes. La pollution des sols constitue en effet un des freins à cette réaffectation de sites alors même que cette dernière permettrait l'économie de foncier agricole et naturel, enjeu primordial. C'est pourquoi la Région a décidé de s'engager dans le projet européen INTERREG VC TANIA (Treating contamination through Nanoremediation), portant sur les techniques nouvelles de dépollution des sols.

3. Patris.gr - The article refers to organisation by Crete Region of a workshop on water resources and environmental remediation where TANIA has been discussed. The event was attended by George Alexakis, Vice President for European and International Affairs, who stressed "the value of the TANIA project lies in bringing forward mature and innovative proposals that can generate new ideas for local entrepreneurship, following its priorities".
