Subsequently, the attendees were divided into smaller rooms to be able to discuss the R&amp;D&amp;I lines of each of the subgroups/axes in which the Working Group on Aging was structured (presented in the previous meeting). This group division was made according to the preferences that each attendee communicated to the teleconference organizing team. It should be noted that the fourth subgroup/axis called Technology, of a transversal nature, did not give rise to a small-sized room, since the lines contemplated in this topic could be included in any of the other three subgroups/axes. In this line, with the aim of leading the debate of each subgroup/axis to the identification of the priority lines of R&amp;D&amp;I in aging, the moderators assigned to each
